Prof. Zhiqiang Cao's Lab uses a multidisciplinary approach, to study new materials and their translational applications in healthcare and biomedical engineering. Cao lab has been dedicated to developing novel treatment and management strategies for cancer (e.g., chemo therapy, immune therapy) and diabetes (e.g., islet encapsulation and transplantation, glucose-responsive insulin).

www.caoresearch.com